MORE INFO

Located in the east of the country, sharing a border with Uganda, Rwanda, and Burundi, the Kivu area is not only home to the Virunga National Park but also many smallholder farmers that produce coffees with stunning cup profiles. The region is named after one of the African Great Lakes, the majestic Lake Kivu. While the area is subject to ongoing conflicts, cooperations between coffee farmers, non-governmental organisations and the Virunga National Park are encouraging peace through the growing of specialty coffee.
